Editor's Note
Changes In Format

Many factors have influenced us in the decision to change the format of the VIGNETTE. We felt that the yearbook staff should not be bound to follow the traditions established in past books if, in their opinion, they are not representative of the student body and its attitudes. It is the obligation of each year's staff to present the school as they view it; changing the book in such a manner as they feel would help to convey the essence and personality of the school and the student body. This year we chose a magazine format believing that this would be an expressive medium through which we would best be able to communicate our impressions of Bridgewater-Raritan High School — West. The use of magazines, in our opinion, helps to date the book, is representative of the times, and is related to student life. It remains for next year's staff to decide in which direction to proceed. We feel that this yearbook is more than just a scrapbook or photograph album; rather a means of expressing the creativity and individuality of West students.

The Beat of Life

Academically serving the two communities of Raritan and Bridgewater is High School West. Covering 83 acres, the unique structure of the campus coupled with the concern of the staff and administration provides a stimulus for the student interested in receiving a full, well-rounded education.

The athletic program at BRHS-West aims to increase skills in sports and to provide relaxation from the tensions of academic life. For those individuals interested in competitive athletics, intramural and varsity programs are provided. Through involvement in the Mid-State Conference, West students participate in fourteen varsity sports. This year girls, for the first time, competed on the varsity level for the glory of the Gold and White. Additional sports coverage begins on page 17.

Over 30 campus organizations express the interests of the West student body. Campus clubs are in many cases closely associated with academic interests, at other times they are extensions of the individual's creative abilities. These organizations sponsor lectures, debates, concerts, and discussion groups throughout the school year. These events along with dramatic productions, dances, and social events, combine to keep the high school calendar filled every semester. Through the many service organizations and student government, West students demonstrate responsible behavior necessary to function as mature adults. More information regarding West clubs begins on page 45.

The academic work at Bridgewater-Raritan High School — West is constantly undergoing modification to strengthen the teaching program and to encourage independence in learning. With the introduction of the elective programs, the shift has been away from the standard "text-book-course" towards work with other mediums. Vocational training is provided through the Industrial Arts and Business Departments for those students planning to enter the working world immediately upon graduation. In-depth reporting of the curriculum starts on page 81.

Next year

WEST FOOTBALL, after several good seasons and several not-so-good seasons, shows promise for next year. Perhaps 1973 will be the Year of the Falcon on the gridiron.

THE CHRISTMAS tournament, dominated for past years by Franklin High School, was faced with an unexpectedly strong West team this year. Next year a fresh wave of Falcons will try to set a new trend.

AS SWIFT AS THE WINDS

Each team has its outstanding participants and this year's cross-country team was no exception. Under the leadership of Captain Tom Randall and the guidance of Coach Leo Charnetski, the harriers placed second in the Mid-State conference, fifth in the county, and qualified for the Group 3 All-State meet.

Randall was one of the top runners in the area. In fifteen races, he placed third twice, second three times, and first ten times — one of the top seasons in West history. In addition, he took second place in the Mid-State Conference meet and fifth in the Group 3-Sectionals competition. Randall was not alone, though. Paul King, Dave Day, Ken Shaw, Mike Andusko, and Rick Amrhein, all contributed to the teams success.

The team's 7-7 record was impressive when one considered the general inexperience and the number of injuries sustained by the Falcon team; Randall and King were the only returning letter winners from last year's championship team. Coach Charnetski can look forward to a winning team next season as experienced juniors Day, Andusko, Shaw, and Sherman return along with a very strong freshman team which placed first in the Midstate Conference.

BOOTERS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

The sweet smell of success was in the air over the West soccer field this year. The 1972 Golden Falcon Booters, ably coached by Mr. Michael Leta and led by co-captains Bob Meinhold and Phil Staropoli, compiled an outstanding 10-4-1 record.

With only three games remaining in the season, the Falcons were tied for the Mid-State Conference title with both North Plainfield and South Plainfield. Tony Viscariello's four goals in the 5-3 victory over the Canucks and a clutch goal to narrowly defeat the South Plainfield Tigers 1-0, helped clinch the conference crown for West.

The booters were one of the highest-scoring teams in the county. Viscariello, the greatest scorer in West history, had twenty goals and four assists this year; Meinhold contributed two goals and seven assists.

The defense was anchored by the outstanding goal tending of Chet Ciattarelli, who recorded four shutouts and had the lowest goals per game average in the area.

Post-season honors were awarded to several players on the West squad. Viscaiello made first string Group III — All-State; Alosi and Ciattarelli, were selected for the All-Somerset County team, and Krajewski and Mienhold won berths on the Mid-State Conference first-team.

The outlook for next year is promising: Ciattarelli, Alosi, Crane and Metrione will be returning along with an improved junior varsity squad coached by Mr. Robert Fischer.

A SEASON OF FRUSTRATION

"The hardest hitting team in the county," was how one opposing coach described the undersized Golden Falcons, out-manned in both build and experience. The gridders, led by tri-captains Bruce Hannon, Dave Hobbs, and John Schiable, battled their way to victories over Princeton and Watchung.

The defensive unit was impressive in both games. Senior Ed Ortelli intercepted three passes in the Princeton game. His efforts were rewarded by the Courier-News when he was selected "Defensive Player of the Week." Other members of the team who made outstanding contributions during the course of the season, and especially during the Watchung and Princeton games, were linebackers Mike Hann and Jeff Wendel, and linemen Bruce Hannon, Gary Hawkins, and Alan Kurylka.

The offense, which had been plagued with inconsistencies throughout the year, put forth their best efforts in those two games. Fireworks were sparked by the actions of backs Dave Hobbs, Bob Kolodinsky, and Warren Snedecker. Providing them with support was the "hard-nosed line", led by Bob Davis, Bill Keating, and Rick Krampert.

The Golden Falcons' 2-7 record was not a true picture of their strength. Coach Chuck Nelson's charges fell to Mid-State Conference champion Piscataway by just five points, and to the Red Devils of Hunterdon Central — a power in the state — by only six.

The Falcons were undoubtedly hampered by the worst weather in several years. Three games were postponed due to heavy rains; many other games were played on mud-slicked fields.

The team was not lacking in individual stardom, however. Hannon was chosen for first-string Mid-State honors, and was selected by the New York Daily News for its Central Jersey All-Star squad; while Hobbs was chosen all-area safety for the second year in a row.

Although the pre-season hopes of many players and fans may have been crushed as the season wore on, the enthusiastic spirit of the team members and the student body did not diminish.

VARSITY GIRLS — FINALLY!

The Field Hockey team, under the direction of Miss Carol Baronowski, was the first recognized fall sport in girls' varsity competition. The girls were models of endurance and dedication, practicing until five o'clock each day despite periods of rain and freezing weather. The season was an important step towards a complete interscholastic program for girls.

The girls compiled a 2-6-2 record, with both wins coming in the conference play-offs. Denise Shimko, Bonnie Overk, Janet Miller, Cindy Galvacky, Melinda McHeran, and Libby Bissell helped the team to a second place finish in the Mid-State Conference. Miss Baronowski has great confidence in the team's prospects for next year. The return of Karen Bohnhorst, Sandy Yohn, Paula De Sherbinen, Jeane Kotula, Rosanne Palermo, and Nancy Gunzelman, along with many other team members should help fulfill her high hopes.

FEMININE AND FAST

The girls cross country team started out at an intramural level this season, but hopes to become a recognized varsity sport next year. "The girls really put forth the effort and determination needed to become a winning team," noted Coach Charnetski.

Ande Hines performed consistently well throughout the season. Out of a field of seventy runners in the Mid-State Conference meet Ande took eighth place. Cheryl Flynn and Mary Vierbuchen were instrumental in leading the team to second place finishes in the county and Mid-State Conference. The increased interest in girls sports, along with the return of many seasoned veterans, provides a healthy outlook for next year's team.

THE GOLDEN FALCONS ARE BACK

West basketball this year brought back memories of our golden years — the championship teams of Grosso, Janzecski, and Roushey. For the first time in five years the Falcons were in the thick of the Mid-State Conference race. They shook off an opening game loss to Union, and went on to record impressive victories over Somerville, East and Franklin. The Falcons ended the regular season with a 14 and 9 record which included second place finishes in the Mid-State Conference and the Christmas tournament.

This year's team had no real individual star; instead, they utilized a well balanced attack which emphasized good passing and a hard defense. Juniors Stan Waitikovich and Bobb Lapp provided the strong rebounding power, while Ed Ortelli, Bob Kolodinsky, John Warren, and Charles Warren supplied outside shooting. Coach Joe Fischer could also turn to a strong bench: Gary Randall, Steve Fortmuller, and Jim Meinhold often provided the spark that was needed to break open a tight game.

Next year's outlook is bright as veterans Waitikovich, Randall, Kolodinsky, Lapp, Fortmuller, and Meinhold return along with a promising junior varsity group led by sophomores Tim Ortelli and Jim Pryor. West fans can look forward to many years of basketball supremacy when Falcons dethrone Piscataway and become Mid-State champs.

INJURIES STOP STREAK

This was the first year of Mid-State Conference Competition for the girls' basketball squad. The team started the season with four straight wins; however a mid-season slump, caused mostly by crippling injuries, stopped the streak and gave the girl's a final 6-7 record. The high point of the year was an overwhelming 58-22 win over East; Karen Bohnhurst netted 24 points and Libby Bissell pulled down 19 rebounds for the Falcons.

Other individual stars were Diane Bliss, Bonnie Overk, Bonnie Garo, MaryLou Case, and Doreen Rooney. The girls were faced with heavy odds throughout the season as they battled taller and more experienced opponents. Miss Baranowski believes that this winning attitude will provide the impetus for a championship squad next year.

West's bowling team continued their fine showing this year as they powered their way to an 8-2 record. For the first time in 3 years, however, the Falcons failed to win the Somerset County Tournament, losing to Somerville in a close battle. The season was highlighted by two overwhelming victories over East; the West squad led by a 241 game by Kevin Wendel and a 246 game by Mark Seiffert crushed the Minutemen in one game by 214 pins.

Alan Mazurak led the team with a 180 average backed by Seiffert's 176. Seniors Chris Stanziola and Jeff Fletcher, and sophomore Wendel all helped the team to achieve its fine record. Coach Dennison looks forward to next season as many underclassmen return.

SPLASHY FIGHT FOR SUPREMACY

This year's Golden Falcon swimmers faced tough odds in their quest for the hotly contested Mid-State title. Opening victories over East and Somerville provided the much-needed impetus for the squad and by season's end the mermen were all alone in first place, thanks to close wins over a powerful Watchung team. The Falcons also captured the Somerset County Championship, to complete their 13 and 1 record, the finest record in West swimming annals.

The season was highlighted by the record-breaking performances of Bill Brigham in the 100 yard freestyle and the 160 and 200 yard individual medleys, and by George Sevilis in the 100 yard backstroke. The 400 yard freestyle relay team, led by Brigham, Glen Pullman, Danny Johnston, and Dave Shepard, set a new record in the state meet where they placed sixth.

Girls were allowed to compete on the varsity level for the first time this year; Paula DeSherbinin, Debbie Baldwin, Sue Gaspar, and Donna Govan all contributed to the teams success. Other key performers were seniors George Kuzmack, Bob Granetz, and Mike Kotula; junior Bill Miller; sophomores Doug Baldwin and Brian Callanan, and the amazing freshman Brent Gara.

Next year's squad looks to continue the Golden Falcon tradition of championship swimming with many underclassmen returning to provide the nucleus for another strong season.

GRAPPLERS SHOW STRENGTH

Mr. Leta's wrestlers were probably the most surprising team on the West sport scene; season predictions placed the Falcons at the bottom of the conference. The critics cited inexperience as a key factor; fortunately the critics were proven wrong. The predominantly underclass squad fashioned a 10-1-1 record, which was the greatest in the history of West wrestling. The Falcons were ranked fifth in the region, and captured second place in the Mid-State Conference and Holiday Tournament. The season was climaxed when the grapplers captured their first district crown in several years.

This year's team featured many individual stars. Triple victories in the district and Christmas tournaments were by Ernie Van Ness, Tim Hinlicky, and Jeff Mase while Rich Reich, Frank Scarponi, and Joe Kuzio placed second in the district matches. All of these wrestlers went on to the regionals where Van Ness and Hinlicky reached the finals: both wrestlers took second place as they fell to more experienced opponents.

These outstanding wrestlers obviously aided the team greatly, but the squad's success was also due to great depth. Pete Yesis, Gary Bernabe, and Steve Changaris provided strength in the lower weight classes, while Keith Kessler and Vince Scarponi supplied the power in the heavier weight divisions. Next season's team, barring injuries, will be the strongest squad ever; an undefeated season along with a state champ is probable. Yesis and Scarponi were the only seniors on the team; the returning underclassmen with a full season already under their belts, will be a powerful force in area wrestling next year.

WHERE THE ACTION REALLY IS

Intramural sports are an important part of the extracurricular life at West. They provide a meaningful outlet for releasing the pent-up energies that somehow accumulate during the regular school hours.

Whether it be at the bowling alleys, or on the upper soccer fields, intramurals tend to bring out the best in everyone. A gawky starry-eyed student is suddenly transformed into a superstar in the Joe Namath-Wilt Chamberlain-Willie Mays mold. A touchdown, homerun, or winning basket is nothing new for the average intramural player; such accomplishments are expected of him by his cheering fans, who amazingly crowd each event.

As in every sport one team seems to dominate the rest. This years powerhouse was the undefeated Ropers who took first place in the basketball and football leagues; their supremacy was challenged only by the The's, Rowan's Orangutans, and Satan's Place.

Intramurals, contrary to popular belief, are the real hotbed of raw jock talent at West; Varsity athletes beware; the intramural star is just beginning to develop.

SAFETY

Student Council

The 1972-73 Student Council represented a remarkable change from previous councils. Last year's Constitutional Revisions went into effect making great changes in the operation of the body and the membership requirements. The number of representatives grew to approximately 120 persons, taken from all facets of the student body. This increase is due mainly to the extensive use of the honorary membership provision. With increased numbers also came increased responsibility. Each member was required to serve on at least two committees with certain basic functions and tasks for which they were accountable; if they were negligent in their duties, they were expelled from the Council. This action kept the group an active organization.

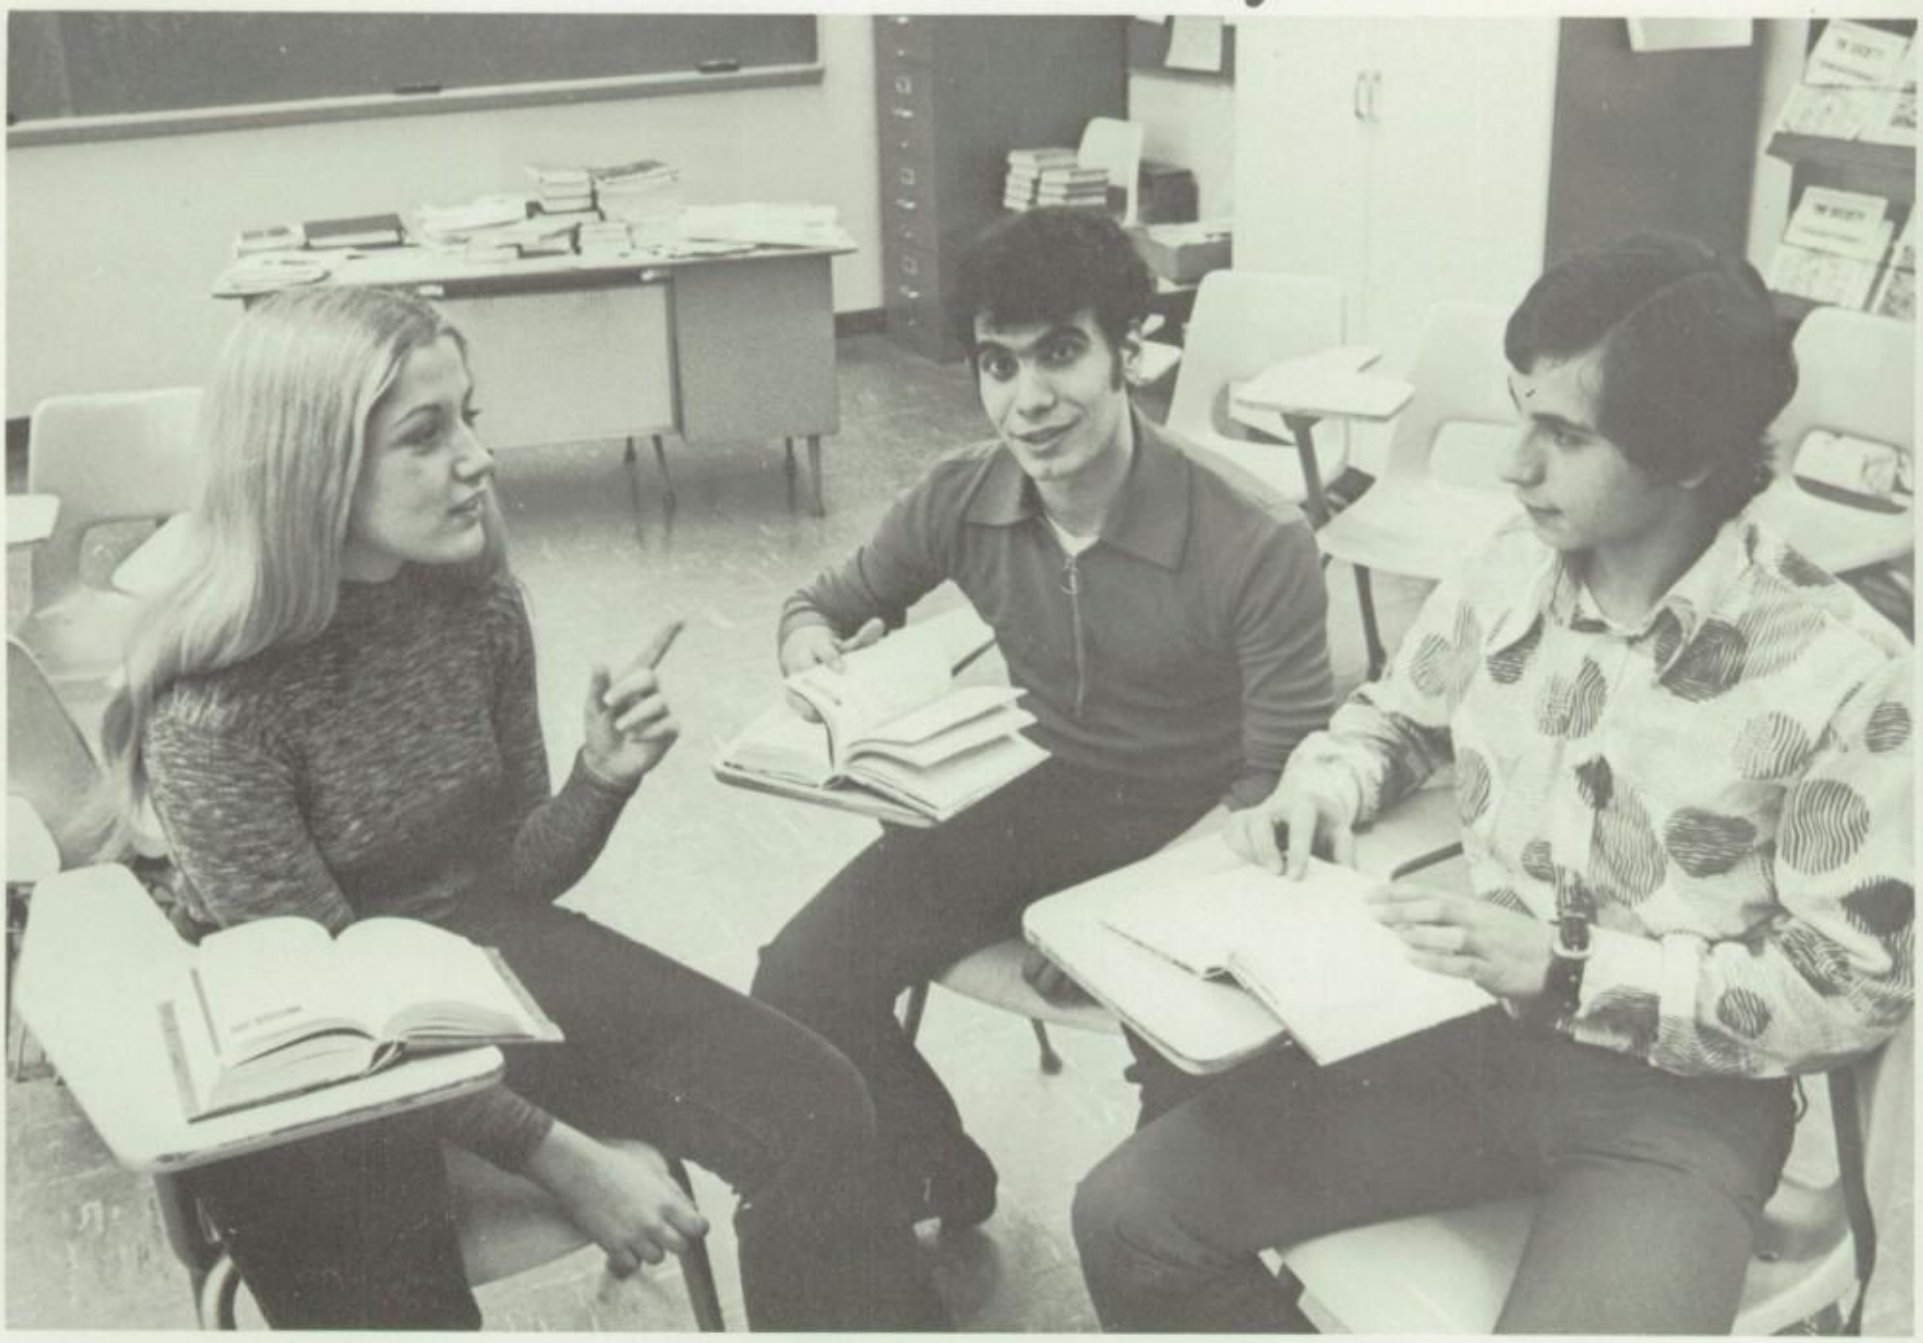
National Honor Society



The National Honor Society at West is one of the most active in the area. Its major purpose is to get well-qualified interested students to work in a responsible way for our school. NHS has raised money for scholarships, promoted inter-school programs, and offers a coaching program to aid students with academic troubles. Cathi Santicerma tutors two students in English (opposite page, above). It has also sponsored College Night to give students a firsthand view of the present college situation by West's alumni. (Below, Steve Hobbs, Class of '71, speaks about life at Harvard.) Though the club is very active in comparison to neighboring clubs, it is always looking for new ways to help the school and provide for its members a learning experience.

Foreign Language Clubs

There are many clubs at West that allow a person to better himself. Foreign language clubs allow students with interests in languages to become more familiar with the tongue and culture of different countries. The clubs have several activities, sponsoring field trips to points of cultural interest, foreign dinners, and inter-club soccer matches. The Russian Club (left) shows its strength. Below, the French Club. Opposite page, above — German Club. Spanish Club — opposite page, below.

Ski Club

The Ski Club, run jointly with High School-East, holds evening meetings throughout the school year. Meetings are devoted to promoting knowledge and appreciation of skiing, and to planning trips to ski areas which the club sponsors throughout the season. The warm weather and rainy winter created poor skiing conditions and dampened most of the club's planned activities, however, the group sponsored successful trips to many of the local skiing areas such as Camelback and Great George. Vermont's Stowe, Gore Mt. and J. Peak were also visited by West's ski bums.

Chess Club

The Chess Club, sponsored by Mr. Routel and Mr. Sinko, is new to West this year. Jim Schwanda is the president with ten members in the organization. In addition to competing amongst themselves, club members have participated in four matches with other schools. The five member team has tied two matches and lost two. This record is certainly respectable for a first year team and prospects for improvement in the near future are good.

Playhouse

The Playhouse aims primarily at offering its members a better look at behind-the-scene acting. Besides trips to New York to watch professional actors, the club performs its own plays in after school workshops and during school for presentation. Last year's play A Midsummer Night's Dream raised scholarship money and also was reviewed in the International Thespian Magazine. The club has had successful shows every season. Besides contributing important funds to West's Scholarship program, it offers its inchoate actors and actresses opportunities to learn, study and work within the framework of the art of acting.

The Drama Workshop, which meets on Tuesday afternoons, gives interested students a closer look at what acting and theatre is made of. Mr. Harris heads the group, and topics discussed include voice projection, body movement, control, and emotional expression.

T.V. Crew

The T.V. Crew is a service club which is in charge of delivering, setting up, and operating the school's audio-visual equipment. Many different groups utilize the crew's services, such as the athletic teams, the playhouse, and faculty members who tape lessons for review that are shown on the school's closed-circuit system.

Folk Club

The folk club invites all students interested in performing or listening to folk music to come together and share their enthusiasm for this kind of music. In past years members have performed for school-wide coffeehouses and staged assemblies for the student body.

Choir

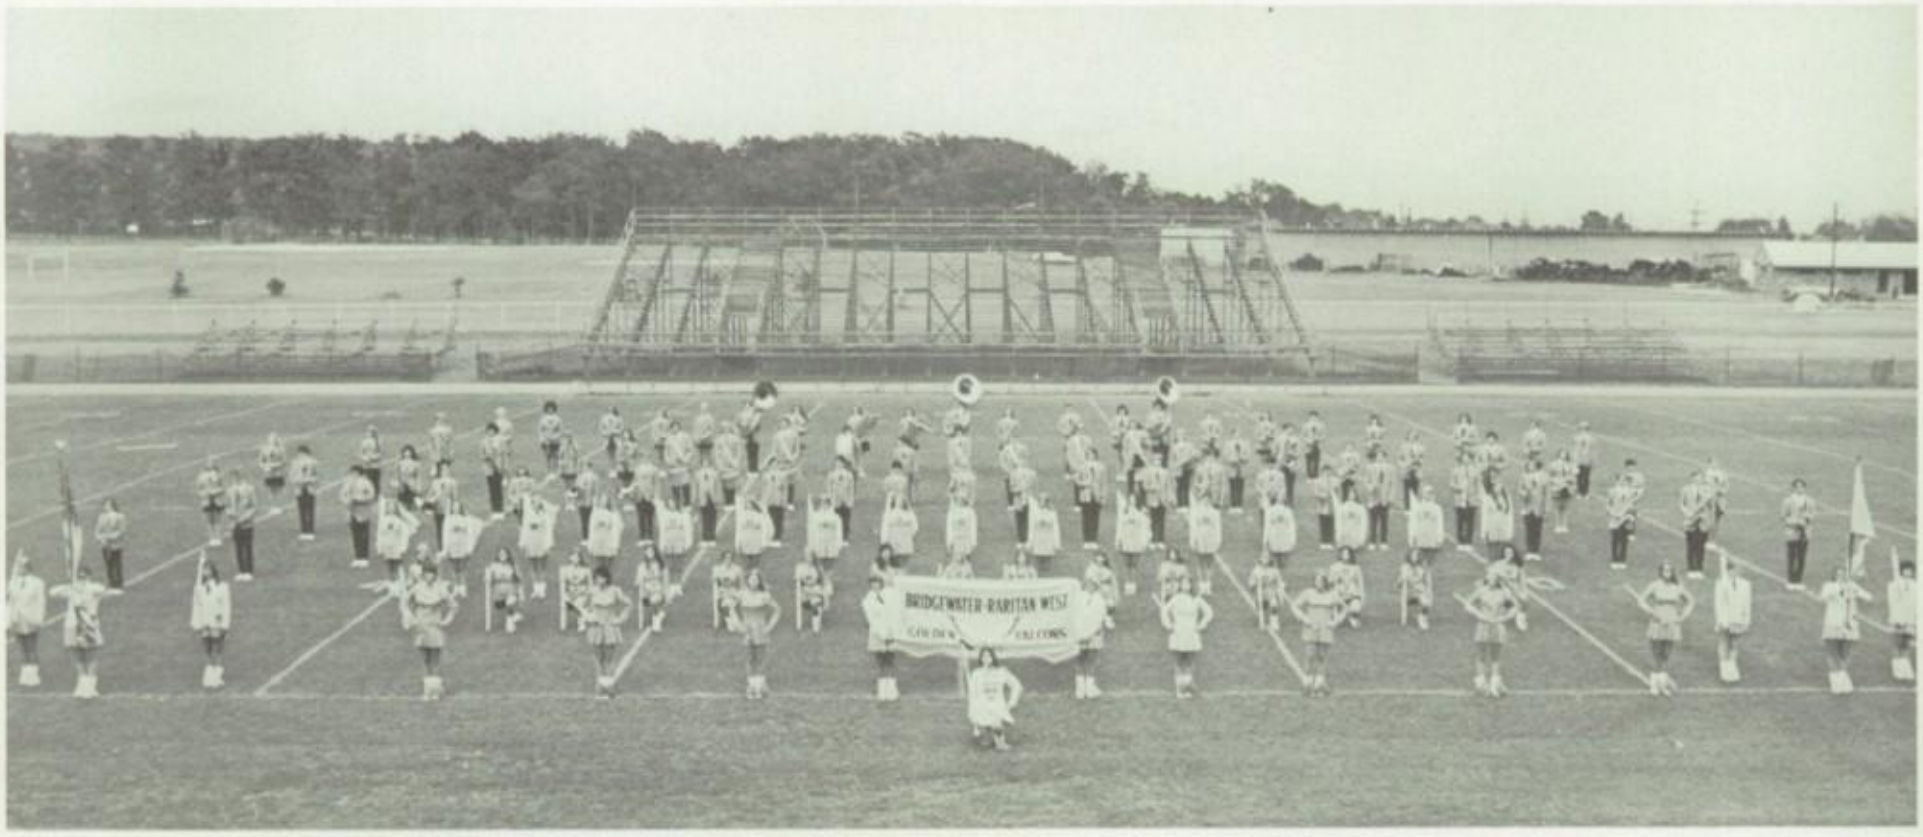
Band

The band, a very active and important part of our school, came through strongly this year. Under the direction of Mr. Gall the field marching unit had a fine season performing at football games, pep rallies, and school concerts. The work was hard and tedious, each member having to work extremely hard to practice and perform his finest to bring out the best in the group. This was definitely an accomplishing year.



Orchestra

The orchestra consists of advanced instrumental musicians. All students with previous experience in either band or intermediate orchestra, and the ability to sight-read medium grade orchestral transcriptions are eligible for membership. Under the direction of Ms. Kress this year's orchestra showed their musicianship by performing at concerts, assembly programs and selected public functions.

Cheerleaders

Rooting from the sidelines, the cheerleaders kept up the spirits of our athletic teams.

Future Homemakers of America

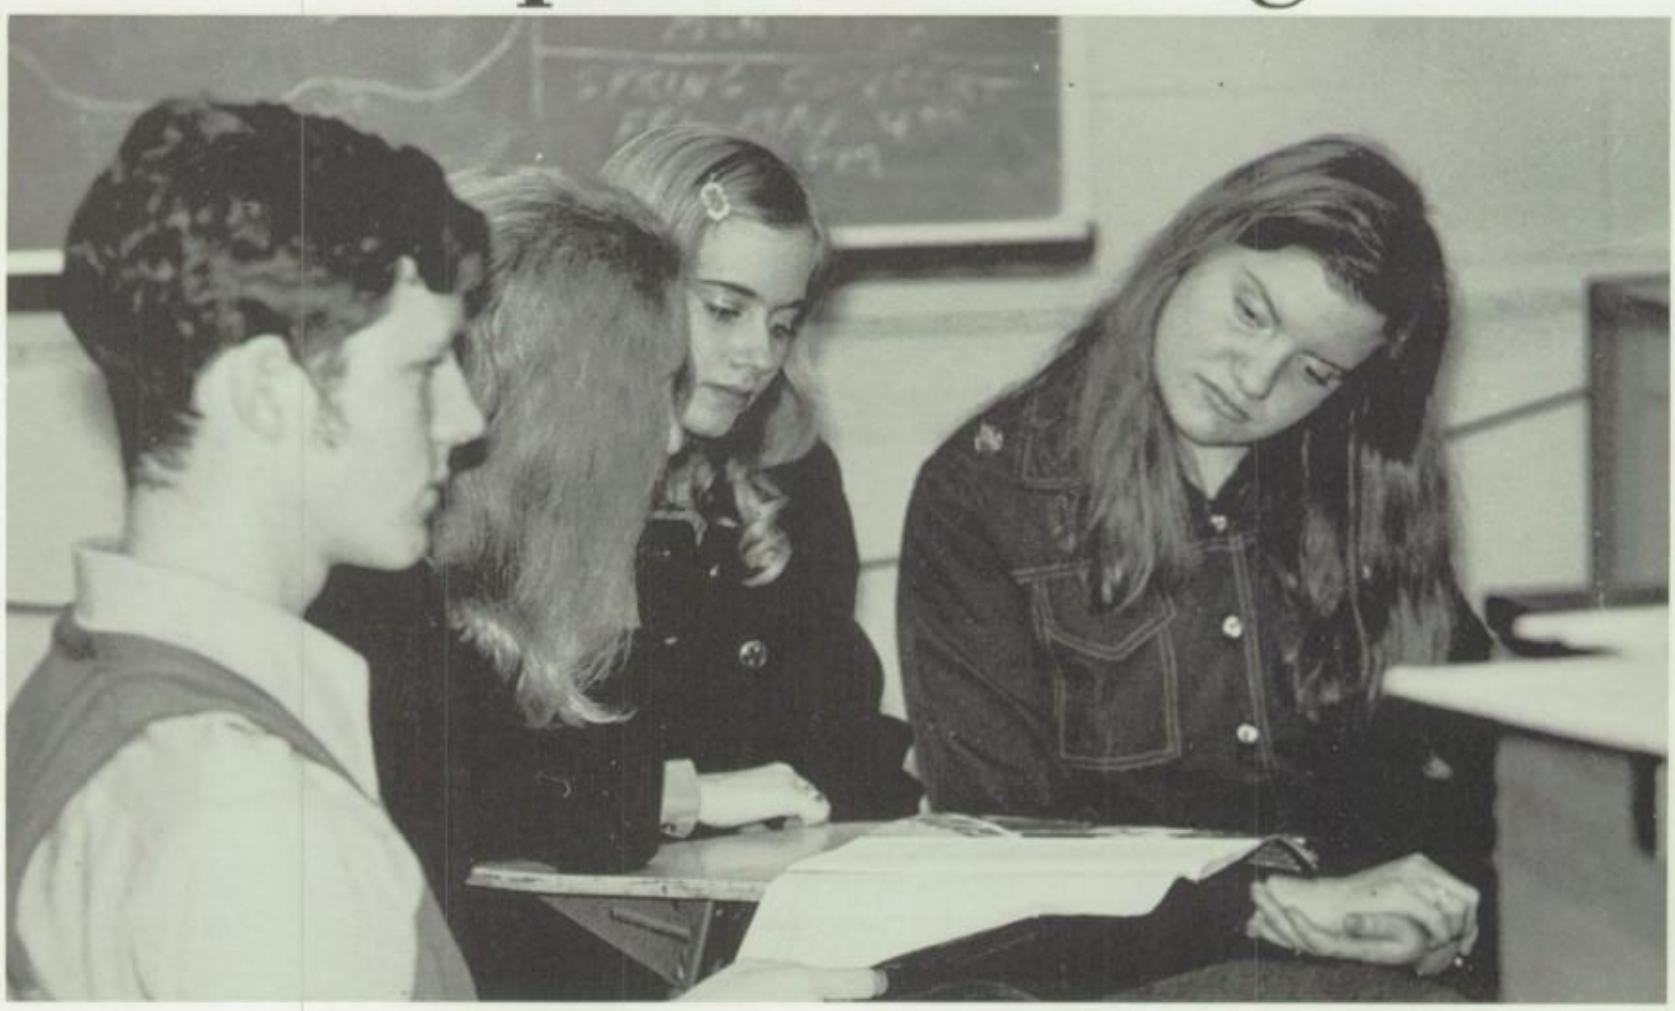
The Bridgewater-West chapter of he Future Homemakers of America s a member of both the state and national organizations. The group's goal is community service; to fulfill his aim the club takes an active part in student life performing many functions for the school and community. Projects undertaken this year include: a successful fund raising dance with proceeds contributed to the UNICEF organization; the sponsoring of a Christmas Party for the children at a nearby Day Care Center; and the visitation by members with elderly patients at nearby nursing homes.

In the Spring, FHA sponsored a Varsity Club dinner and attended the annual State Future Homemakers of America Convention.

Fortune Cookies

The Fortune Cookies are a group of approximately 15 students who gather together to study and appreciate the culture of China. Under the leadership of Ruth Oneson, President, and Eugene Covey, Chairman of the Board, the club has enjoyed many activities, including a trip to the Asia House in New York City to view an exhibit of Buddist sculpture, the preparation of a Chinese dinner, a demonstration of Origami, and the creation of their own fortune cookie recipe.

Opera Listening Club



The purpose of the Opera Listening Club is to instill and promote an interest in opera. The club discusses the merits of particular artists and composers and makes several field trips during the year.

Library Council

The Library Council is comprised of students interested in the library and its functions. Members of this group work in the library during their free time and volunteer their services for such tasks as book and magazine repair, book arrangement, and the preparation of new books, displays, and bibliographies.

Reflections

The Reflections staff gathers weekly to judge material for inclusion in West's literary magazine. Reflections has won many awards in past years, and this year's magazine promises to be even better. The group is experimenting with many new formats, including an enlargement of the magazine to 8½ by 11 inches. This will facilitate the inclusion of more works by West's students.

The Campus Courier

West's newspaper the Campus Courier has improved annually to the point where it has won 1st place honors from the Columbian Scholastic Press Association in their annual judging. The paper strives to stimulate student interest in both school activities and contemporary issues through investigative reporting, editorials, and letters to the paper submitted by members of the student body. Plans for future improvement are already underway with hopes for more students to contribute interesting information, review, and articles in order to become acquainted with the procedures involved in the assembling of a large public newspaper, the staff visited the new headquarters of the Courier-News.

LAVATORY

LOOK

Behind the Scenes

Perhaps you are wondering what it takes to make a yearbook, so that you can produce one yourself some time. There are three necessary ingredients: workshop; money; and people.

This year's staff invaded the Welle's apartment and exercised squatter's rights. Refusing to relinguish control, the editors maintained lonely vigils during which a mess was created which could have probably qualified for federal relief funding as a disaster area. During this time, the Welles were restricted to certain short trips to the kitchen and bathroom, so as not to disturb any possible stroke of genius which might have been occuring in the outer rooms. For their eternal patience in allowing us to exist and work in relative peace, we are eternally grateful.

The second necessary item is an abundant supply of cash-on-hand. Money was one thing we had in rather short supply, however; therefore we were obligated to raise the total price of your book — from $8.00 to $9.00 — the extra dollar helping to cover the cost of printing and mailing the spring supplement. This year's book contained many new features since last year — more pages, the use of color, the supplement and others which naturally added to the production costs. Through the tireless efforts of the business staff, more subscriptions, more boosters and more advertising space were sold than ever before. This increased revenue helped to offset the higher costs. The editorial staff thanks the business group's efforts as profusely as possible.

Finally, you need people — workers who are willing to devote afternoons, evenings, and weekends, ready to give up any other activity at a moment's notice, in order to obtain one goal — the completion of a quality yearbook before a deadline date is passed. This description does not adequately describe this year's staff, however. They gathered together only under extreme protest, and only when the deadline date was staring them in the face from every calendar. Perhaps this is an exaggeration, however the four editors certainly did not gather together because they enjoyed each other's company. But despite the vitriolic name calling and personal vendettas, a yearbook was produced — we hope you will look upon it in future years as a true representation of WEST 1973. We can only say we have done our best.

A LETTER FROM THE PRINCIPAL

While there are many aspects to be covered in depicting the life of a high school, there can be no doubt that the most important element is the curriculum and the teachers who give it life. Many educators would define the curriculum broadly as all the experiences a student has under the direction of the school, others would limit its scope to the formal program of studies. In either definition, the heart of the curriculum can best be captured in the experiences students have daily in the classrooms, shops, laboratories, library, and gymnasium, and in the efforts of the corps of teachers who translate courses of study into learning activities.

Thomas Bradshaw with student

Seen in this light, a school succeeds or fails largely on the basis of the excellence of its program of studies and the expertise of its faculty. Maintaining an up-to-date, relevant, meaningful curriculum requires constant effort by administration, staff, and students. Existing courses must be revised to eliminate outdated material and to incorporate new knowledge, new courses must be added when their need or desirability becomes evident, and courses which no longer serve a valid purpose must be removed. The teaching staff, too, must be kept current through graduate study, inservice training, and a suitable supervisory program. New staff members are carefully screened for academic background and teaching competence.

In the pages that follow, you will have an opportunity to judge our attempt to communicate, in words and pictures, our perception of the curriculum of our school.

We feel we have both an outstanding program of studies and a top notch staff. We hope that after you have read this section you will be able to understand our pride.

Thomas J. Bradshaw

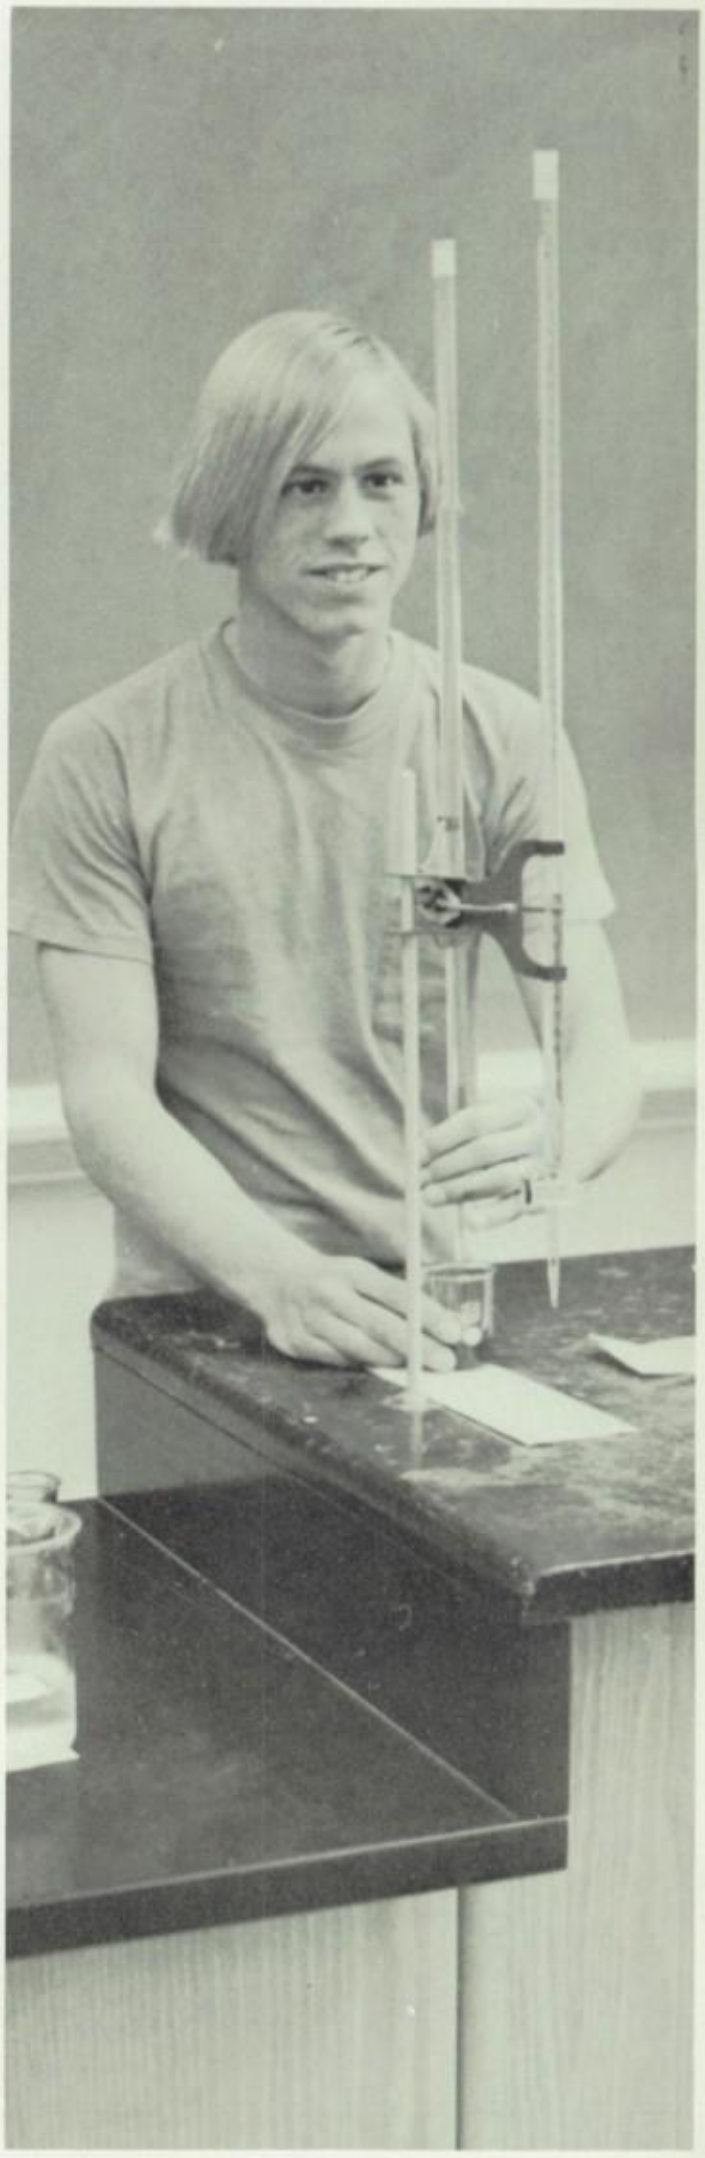
TIME



Leading the Way

West's three administrators, Dr. Thomas Bradshaw, Dr. Charles Crosby, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Connors, represent the culmination of many years of teaching and administrative experience. This is most clearly evident in the amount of concern shown by these three for the affairs of West's student body.

Dr. Bradshaw has been principal of Bridgewater-Raritan West since 1966. A graduate of Holy Cross University, Dr. Bradshaw received his Bachelor's Degree while majoring in Economics with a minor in Naval Science. He later attended Seton Hall University and majored in Secondary Education with a minor in Social Studies. Dr. Bradshaw received his Master's in 1959 and his Doctorate in 1965 in Educational Administration and Supervision from NYU. Before coming to West, Dr. Bradshaw served for five years as principal of Monmouth Regional High School.

West's Vice-Principal, Dr. Crosby received his Bachelor of Science degree from Rutgers University, majoring in English with a minor in Education. Later, Dr. Crosby earned his Master's Degree in Educational Administration and his Doctorate in Educational Administration and Supervision in 1972, also from Rutgers. Dr. Crosby has been at West since 1959, previously serving as assistant coach for West's football and wrestling teams, later as head wrestling coach.

Miss Connors, who serves as Assistant Principal, graduated from Marywood College in Scranton, majoring in Chemistry with a minor in education. Miss Connors went on to earn her Master's Degree in Educational Administration and Supervision and also as a Reading Specialist. She also did additional graduate work at Notre Dame, American, Brown, and Rutgers Universities. Before coming to West, Miss Connors taught Chemistry, Physics, and Mathematics at the high school level for a period of eight years, and spent one year teaching the sixth grade. She has also served for four years as Vice-Principal at Pottstown High School, Pennsylvania, and as Vice-Principal and Assistant Principal for three years here at West.

Moving With the Times

The many and rapid changes taking place in the business world are closely followed by the Business Education Department. It is this attention to and implementation of new developments that ensures business students success after high school. Date Processing (using the tabulators, sorter, and key punch machine) and the practice sets in accounting are but two examples of the modern machines and methods used to simulate office and business work. The students' salable skills at job-entry levels and their awareness of the business economic environment prepare them to compete in the job market as well as to manage their own finances.

Growth Through Innovation

For our TIME Interview curriculum reporters visited with the chairman of the English Department, Mr. Leonard Stilo. Mr. Stilo's insights regarding West's English program were most enlightening.

TIME: Would you describe briefly what you consider to be the greatest single strength of the English Department.
STILO: I think we are fortunate to have a truly excellent group of teachers who represent a variety of skills and interests, something that is vital to our elective program.
TIME: What about the elective? Are they working well?
STILO: Yes, and for several reasons, foremost of which is that each student gets the opportunity to choose courses that are of interest to him. Also, non-college students find semester courses like Basic Writing Skills, Contemporary Literature and Exploring the Film more interesting and challenging than a full year of traditional literature and grammar. Finally, teachers are teaching courses in which they have a personal interest and superior competency.
TIME: From an instructional point of view, what are the major strengths of the elective program?
STILO: Many of our electives such as Western Literature and Major British Writers, are rather traditional. While these courses are still extremely important, the fact that we have broadened the scope of language and literature to include films, mass media and related arts is, I think, a step in the right direction. In addition to reading prose and poetry of all kinds, our students are discovering the psychology of advertising, the poetry of film-making and the relationship of literature to painting and music. At risk of using a current cliche, I must nevertheless describe our program as relevant.
TIME: Many parents and educators have stressed the need for basics in English education. Can a program such as yours provide a guarantee that fundamentals are still being taught?
STILO: I firmly believe that we are doing a far better job of teaching fundamentals now than ever before. Take writing for example. We offer a variety of writing courses geared to the students' needs and abilities. But more importantly, we teach writing as a laboratory course with great emphasis on individual progress. Some students need help with sentence structure. Others write sentences well but have trouble organizing their thoughts. No two writers have exactly the same problems nor are that at the same stage of their individual development.
TIME: How do some of these ideas apply to the two non-elective years?
STILO: I feel that the team approach, which encompasses most sophomores, has been so successful that we have retained it. Otherwise, we would have abolished it in favor of a three year elective program. We have a traditional program on the ninth grade level because students came to our school with a variety of backgrounds. We keep the first year traditional in order to develop a common background to work from. At the same time I do feel we must have a number of electives available which they (underclassmen) can take in addition to a full year of required English. I feel courses involving the Bible as literature and mythology would relate to the lower grade level.
TIME: How do you sum up your feelings about the English Department?
STILO: The big change in English is that we're getting involved in activity-oriented areas of learning. Generally speaking, most English programs haven't changed much in the last forty or fifty years; but I feel we are much more willing to effect change than was once true. This is what I mean by flexibility.

Beyond Painting and Drawing

The Art Department seeks to develop the student's creative potential and provide him with a medium of self-expression.

The Art Curriculum has been revised this year to enable the serious student to concentrate in his specific area of interest, so that one who enjoys sculpturing does not have to spend most of his time painting and drawing. After completing Art I, the student has the option of either going on to Art II or selecting from a new group of one semester electives which emphasize a particular aspect of art. These new courses are Ceramics, Crafts, Design, Printmaking, and Sculpture. Seniors who have taken the elective course offering in their area of interest may further pursue their specialization in Senior Studio, a one semester course which can be extended to one year.

The Art Program allows students to work with both their hands and mind. Outstanding work by a number of budding artists can be seen exhibited in the library, the halls adjacent to the main office, and a variety of other locations around the campus.

Sounds of Industry

Noises emanate from the Industrial Arts Department in the 200 building, but the noise level indicates action — the use of machines and the learning of skills. The Industrial Arts Department strives to make its courses an integral part of general education. By instilling each student with a basic insight into industry, the I-A curriculum eases the transition from school to work. Through courses ranging from mechanics to wood shop to drafting, the Industrial Arts Department provides each student an opportunity to make use of the tools, materials, and operation of the industrial processes. Writing, mathematics and manipulative skills complement the basic program.

Hands On. To facilitate the students' application of learned skills to the demands of industry, the Industrial Arts Department participates in a Co-operative Education Program. This "hands on" approach allows the student to work part time in an actual industrial situation. This year 21 students took part in the program.

The Industrial Arts Department is in contact with approximately 30-35% of the student body. Although most students taking Industrial Arts courses are not college bound, courses such as drafting and Electronics attract many college candidates. A good percentage of the industrial arts students not going to college finish their training in advanced technical schools upon graduation.

Our Shrinking Globe

By attempting to bridge the language gap between nations, the Foreign Language Department furthers the cause of communication in our "small world." This goal is accomplished by helping students achieve proficiency in the use of a foreign language in everyday life. To this end, the learning of basic language skills — listening, reading, writing, and speaking — is most important. Language teachers use modern film strips, textbooks, tapes and language laboratory equipment to supplement classroom understanding.

Enhanced Understanding. Since familiarity with the native culture is as important as grammatical structures in the learning of a foreign language, teachers make wide use of materials other than the standard textbook. Students sing songs, read magazines, host guest speakers, view slides, experiment with foreign foods and participate in trips to points of cultural interest. Opportunities to visit France, Spain, Germany, and Russia are also made available during the spring vacation.

A Plan for All Seasons

The role of the Music Department consists of more than just staging entertaining programs by the choir, orchestra, and band; rather it is to give the students an appreciation of fine music and its composers. Beginning with a study of the contributions made to modern music by the early music of the Greeks and Hebrews through the music of the Renaissance, and Romantic periods, and concluding with contemporary forms, the courses in Music History give the student a knowledge and likeing of all forms of fine music. The program for choir is designed to instruct the student in the elements of choral singing. The elements of choral and individual vocal production are also studied. The band and orchestra classes study standard, popular, and modern band literature. The groups are trained in military drills and maneuvers, in standard parade, concert, and rehearsal techniques, and in elementary conducting methods.

Presenting — A New Approach to Math

The Mathematics Department has come a long way since the early days of B.R.H.S. West. New teaching devices have made a great impact on the learning process. For instance, the overhead projector makes it possible for everone to see the lesson no matter where one is sitting. One of the most revolutionary devices for improving the teacher's presentation to the class is the use of close-circuit television equipment. Full lessons can be taped and replayed whenever needed, thereby giving students the necessary resources for review without teacher assistance.

Students who show special interest in mathematics are invited each month to take tests conducted by the Central Jersey Math League. The efforts of Dave Burch, Doug Danforth, Bob Granetz, Bill Kleppinger, Marilyn Robbins, Chris Stanziola, and John Wetter helped to place the team first in West's division. Bob Granetz also received special instruction from the Math Dept. in the use of their computer.

Recognizing the importance of mathematics in the future of each student, the Math Department has sought to create a relevant, dynamic program.

Making Tomorrow, Today

The Science Department meets the needs of the students who wish to pursue advanced study and individual research as well as those who desire only to be introduced to the sciences.

The scope of experimentation has been expanded upon by the addition of sophisticated equipment such as an electric counter, accurate to one-thousandth of a second, and an air-table which demonstrates straight-line kinematics.

The Science Department is especially proud of the accomplishments of its students. West's Chemistry teams have enjoyed outstanding success this year. The first year team led by Rich Zagroba who placed fourth in the state, ranks fifth out of 53 teams. Bob Granetz, who is first in the state, has led the second year team to sixth place among 33 competing schools. West's Physics and Biology teams have also scored consistently well in the New Jersey State Science Day contest held annually at Farleigh Dickenson University.

This year the Science Department also provided an opportunity for interested students to study geological formations. For this purpose a group of West students visited Iceland during Easter, vacation.

Learning to Live

Meeting the needs of students, girls as well as boys, who seek insight into meal preparation, clothing construction, home budgeting and child care is the aim of the Home Economics program. This goal is accomplished by teaching the student how to operate as a useful person and to cope with everyday problems. The course offerings, expanded by the addition of innovative courses, include:

▶ Meal Preparation: designed to give the cooking novice experience in planning, preparing and arranging complete meals.

▶ Experimental Foods: a laboratory course, encourages an appreciation of a variety of foods by the students.

▶ Clothing Construction: geared to developing the student's ability to select appropriate and enhancing clothing.

▶ Creative Clothing: further investigates modern techniques used in fashion designing.

▶ Family and Child: revolves around the study of child behavior. A feature of the course is the establishment of a play center with emphasis on good health, creativity and childhood routines.

▶ Space and Design: studies the efficient use of space by the designing of functional furniture.

▶ Today's Living: explores the changing social roles of men and women. The life cycle is studied in relation to the resourses of human beings. Emphasis is placed on the many aspects of consumer awareness.

Emphasizing Awareness

The Social Studies Department seeks to prepare the student for a meaningful role in American society. To fulfill this, the student should have a knowledge of history; be aware of the function of the individual in society; be capable of distinguishing fact from opinion; and be able to objectively evaluate information.

These goals are accomplished by a variety of methods, depending upon the teacher. Some of the most popular approaches are student research, discussions, lectures, guest speakers, and simulation of actual situations with student role playing. At West, students are encouraged to express and defend their opinions, and to freely exchange ideas. Emotionalism is avoided and the pursuit of the facts is stressed.

Franchise: West Style. The polls opened four days early at Bridgewater-Raritan West, as students and faculty voted their preference in the 1972 Presidential election. The scene in the auditorium, which served as West's polling place was a lesson in civics. Students filed past desks where they received paper ballots from other students acting as voter registrars. (Picture opposite page, above left)

A well informed voter is able to choose intelligently, so guest speakers from both parties were invited to address the student body on the issues of the campaign. Speaking for the Republicans were Senator Ray Bateman, former President of the State Senate (Opposite page, below left), and also the director of the Somerset County Committee to Re-elect the President. On behalf of the Democrats spoke Fred Bohen, candidate for the House, and Carol Cohen, candidate for Somerset County Board of Freeholders.

The results were predictable: President Nixon swept the school, capturing 70% of the vote against Senator McGovern's 30%. The faculty, however, supported Senator McGovern over the President by almost the same overwhelming proportion. That Nixon went on to win the national election by a margin of 61%-39%, showed that the attitudes of the student body accurately reflected the political trends of the public that developed during the election campaign.

New Break From an Old Past

The Physical Education Department provides students with a knowledge of how the body functions, and encourages them to develop fit, healthy bodies. It provides facilities for recreation and introduces students to a variety of athletic activities which can be enjoyed throughout life.

This year the Physical Education schedule has been rearranged so that all students have gym each day for three marking periods, while one marking period is devoted to Health classes. There is also a Health and Physical Education section in the library for the first time this year. Consideration is being given to the purchase of a universal gym, such as high school East has, which could be used by as many as fifty students at a time. Although the current lack of space has hampered the development of innovative phys. ed. practices, the staff has continued to seek ways and means of improving West's recreation and health programs.

Freshman 195

Class of '73

The Class Council of the Class of 1973 has had many achievements in the past four years of which they can be proud. Beginning with the freshman year, under the leadership of Jack Pontarollo, the Class of 1973 showed it was a force to be reckoned with, being the first freshman class not to finish last in the Fun-Nite fund raising competition.

As sophomores, the Spirit of '73 continued to rise tying the juniors at Fun-Nite. Through the efforts of President Jim Marusak, the class treasury grew through the sale of shakers and the profitable dance "We love you, Harvey and Zelda." The Sophomore Class of 1973 was the first recipient of the Thanksgiving "Spirit of Giving Award."

As juniors, under the direction of President Jeff Wendel, once again the Class of 1973 won the "Spirit of Giving Award." Through candy sales at the football games and the sale of West T-shirts, class funds increased. The Junior Prom held in May "Colour My World" was very successful, owing to the efforts of Ann Frody, prom committee chairman.

As seniors, the Class of 1973 still carries a big stick at West. Despite the disappointment arising from the cancellation of the Senior Ball, the class rebounded and enjoyed a very successful senior trip. Under President Wendel's continued guidance, the Senior Class sponsored a road rally in the spring.

The Class of 1973 has had many accomplishments. The effect the members of the class had on West will be long remembered.

Juniors

With two years of experience behind them, the Junior Class Council has begun to accomplish the goals they set when they first entered West. Under the leadership of the four officers — Rich Martorano, President; Cathi Vail, Vice-President; Mary Ann Odorizzi, Secretary; Erin Murphy, Treasurer; and the guidance of class advisor Mrs. Lake, the Council has achieved success in numerous activities.

Despite the pouring rain, the spirits of the class members were not dampened on homecoming morning. As they decorated their float, they realized their first project was a success.

The canned food drive was another venture that the Junior Class can be proud of. By canvassing their neighborhoods and homerooms, the class collected several hundred cans.

The class's most significant achievement was the Junior Prom, "Stairway to Heaven." Organization was the key to the prom's success — and the tireless efforts of Joyce Newton, Jody Hensley, Louise Santangelo, Vicki Sorbo, Eileen Cain, and Debbie Denmark added to the efficiency of the prom committees and insured the prom's success. "Stairway to Heaven" was truly a night to remember.

Sophomores

Following on the heels of a promising freshman year the sophomore class fulfilled its potential with an active, successful class council. Under the leadership of President Andrea Suarez, Vice-Pres. Jean Kotula, Secretary Sally Heckle and Treasurer Debbie Hallisey the sophomore class won the Spirit of Giving Award by contributing the most cans to the canned food drive. The class's dedicated spirit was also exhibited through their generous contributions to the school's toy drive. To raise funds the class held after-school bake sales and undertook such projects as the selling of BRHS-West jackets and gold and white sweat socks. After this spectacular year the class of '75 looks to be a bulwark of West in the future.

Freshmen

The fact that this year's Freshman class was able to forget past junior high rivalries and unite into one powerful and working unit is an asset that all can be proud of. Under the direction of advisor Mr. Montefusco, and officers George Worman, President; David Rand, Vice-President; Ladine Bellami, Secretary; and Patty Gastin, Treasurer; the Freshman Class Council was formed into an effective organization.

The Council's major project was its effort to reinstate freshman "free time." Although unsuccessful in their appeal to the administration, the spirit of the Freshman Class in the face of adversity showed the class was a force to be reckoned with. Another freshman project, the freshman dance will be remembered as one of the highpoints of the 1972-73 calendar. It is this type of action which assures West continued good leadership.

AT THE OLD BALL GAME

The weather played an important role in yet another West sport this year. The baseball team, hampered by many postponed games and practices, struggled through the early season with a 1-9 record. Yet when the sun came out, so did the victories; the Falcons went 6-4 for the second half and finished the year with a record of 7 wins and 13 losses.

Tighter pitching and fielding were obvious reasons for the squad's upswing; Mike Randall, Bob Lichtman, and Frank Folio pitched effectively while Chuck Stringer, Dave Terry, John Mancini, and Rich Mortarano provided solid fielding. The Falcons also featured powerful hitting; Bob Watson, Ed Ortelli, Jeff Hansen and Rick Hulbert pounded out many key hits for the team. Mr. Dennison is looking forward to a winning season next year, as many strong underclassmen return.

THAT CHAMPIONSHIP SEASON

In their first year of varsity competition, the girl's softball team surpassed even Coach Nye's wildest expectations as they powered their way to an impressive 9-2 record. They captured the Mid-State Championship and received a ninth place ranking in the State Tournament. The high point of the year came in a 10-4 victory over archrival East; Bonnie Garo knocked in three runs and Debbie Buhl got the pitching decision for the Falcons.

This year's squad had a fine blend of experience and spirit; Seniors Libby Bissell, Bonnie Overk, and Bonnie Garo supplied the leadership while Freshmen Regina Alonzo, Joy Shimko, Carol Mutchcer and Cindy Gano gave the team enthusiastic play. Ms. Nye expects another fine season when freshmen and other underclassmen, Karen Bohnhorst, Paula DeSherbinin, Denise Shimko, Nancy Gunzelman, Jeanne Kotula, and Debbie Buhl return.

COUNTY CHAMPIONS

In recent years the West Golf team, under the able direction of Mr. Troisi, has been a powerhouse in county Golf circles. This year's squad was no exception — they finished with an outstanding 21-1 record and captured the Mid-State and County Championships. The Falcons also finished sixth in the State Meet only a few strokes behind the leaders.

Mr. Troisi could rely on a fantastic First Four — Tim McAvoy, Mark McAvoy, Alan Mazurak, and Paul Mogin. Tim was named to the Mid-State First Team — a fitting end to his fine career, while his brother Mark was selected for the Second Team. The back-up strength of the team also was impressive — both Mark Seiffert and Ed Kucharski could step in for any one of the starters with little change in the team's overall performance. Without a doubt, next year's team will be the finest in the school's history; a State Championship is a definite possibility when McAvoy, Mazurak, Mogin, Seiffert, and Kucharski return for another season.

FALCON FAST

This year's track season was marred by an unexpected tragedy — the unfortunate death of tri-captain Bob Yarnell. The team was obviously shocked by the accident, but rebounded for another fine season. The dual meet record was 9-2 and the Falcons stopped the 18-meet winning streak of powerful Hillsborough. Coach Weigner was impressed with the squad's enthusiasm and hustle; the team never gave up, and put forth the maximum effort in each event.

Unlike past seasons, the Falcons possessed no individual star; instead it relied on overall team balance and depth for its success. Harold Snyder was the leading point scorer; Dave Day set a new school record in the pole vault when he leaped 13.0 feet in the Meet of Champions for a fourth place finish.

Captains Tom Randall and Bob MacIntosh, along with Seniors Bill Keating and John Troisi, were top performers throughout the year. Next year's team should continue the excellent tradition of West track as many underclassmen return. Snyder, Day, Mike Hann, Jeff Kunkel, and Ottoway Tally will all return for another potentially fine season.

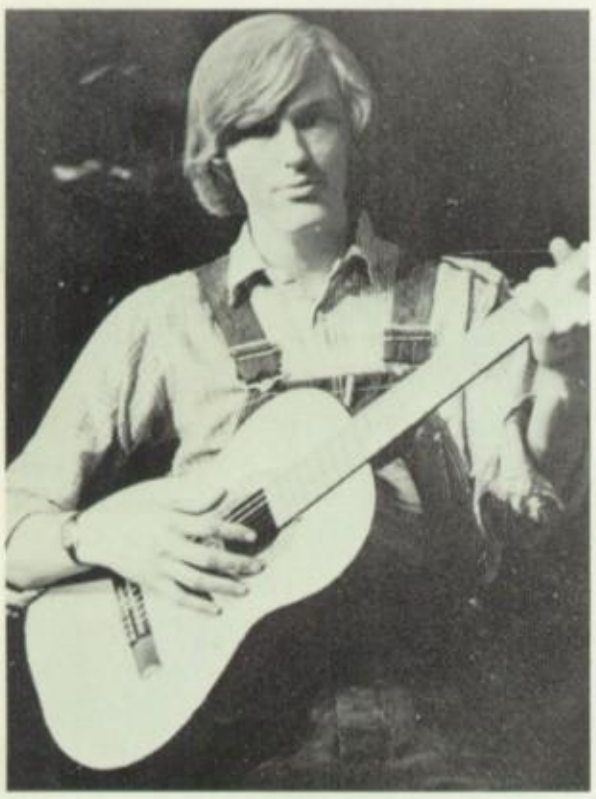
PLAYHOUSE PRESENTS:



Dark of the Moon, a play with music in two acts, for three nights in the High School-West auditorium.

On March 29, Howard Richardson's and William Berney's play Dark of the Moon opened to a virtually full house. The story of a young mountain girl who falls in love with a witch boy — turned human, tells of a love declared on Old Baldy Mountain and destroyed in a church of God.

Barbara Allen (played by Pam Beatty) is a shy, backwoods girl who meets John, the witch-boy, while walking along the mountain ridge. John (Bill Garrison), caught up by Barbara's beauty, flies down to her on his eagle and makes love to her. He then convinces the Conjur Woman (Marianne Orina) to make him human so as they can marry.

A child is born to them; however, it had to be "burned with fire in the yard" since it was born a witch. This upset the community to such a degree, that Preacher Haggler (John Wetter), believing to have received divine guidance, forced Barbara to have sex in the church with Marvin Hudgens (Steve Clancey) — that being the only possible means of breaking the spell and ridding the valley of a witch.

Directed by Mr. Lee Harris and assisted by Pat Cambouris, other outstanding performances were given by the witches (Gail Geyer and Cindy Garrison), Mrs. Allen (Pat Higgins), Floyd Allen (Neil Harding), Uncle Smelicue (Bill Hollingsworth) and Gabby Bergan (Betsy Westlake).

The unique set, designed and built by Mr. Guy Suabidessen, added much to the show's success. Best described as simple and utilitarian, the set contained an actual mountain built at the rear of the stage. Through the clever and imaginative use of lighting, the mountain could be seen as necessary.

SENIORS SPARKLE AT GRADUATION

On Tuesday, June 19, 421 students received diplomas at Bridgewater-Raritan West's commencement exercises. The Class of 1973 was presented by the principal, Dr. Thomas Bradshaw, to Dr. Emmet F. McWilliams, the assistant superintendent of schools in the Bridgewater-Raritan school district. Mr. Edmund Botta, the vice-president of the Board of Education, awarded the diplomas, including a diploma awarded posthumously to Robert Yarnell, who died this past April.

The theme of this year's graduation speakers was "Beyond a Life of Quiet Desperation," dealing with aspects of today's society being questioned by large numbers of today's youth. Karen Kelly spoke on the changing role of women in society: "A Rag and a Bone and a Hank of Hair"; Jane DeFalco addressed herself to the aspects and problems of morality: "The Best of All Devices for Leading Mankind by the Nose"; John Wetter talked of patriotism: "The Last Refuge of a Scoundrel"; and David Burch spoke on religion: "Write for it, Fight for it —, Die for it — Anything but Live for it."

Due to inclement weather, the exercises, originally scheduled for outside at the John Basilone Memorial Field were held indoors in the school gymnasium.
